LL.M. I2C - 10 Years Shaping Excellence in International Construction Contract Management

A Decade in Review: How Risk and Technology Are Reshaping Construction Contracts and Project Delivery. Over the past decade, the LL.M. I2C has trained successive generations of specialists equipped to navigate the most complex international projects. This anniversary conference offers a strategic moment to take stock of the industry's evolution, anticipate the major forces reshaping it, and reaffirm the critical role of law in risk management and project performance.

This landmark conference will take place in the prestigious Grand Salon de la Sorbonne and its adjacent Péristyle, in the heart of Paris, bringing together a highly selective audience of professionals, practitioners, legal experts, senior executives and international specialists from the construction, engineering, infrastructure and legal sectors. A fully English-language event, designed for and by a global community.

International conference marking the 10th Anniversary of the LL.M. International Construction Contracts (I2C), one of the world's leading postgraduate programmes in international construction contract law and management.
